CORRESPONDENCE.

Between General Wilkinson of the American army, and Col. England, of the British army, commanding at Detroit.

Head Quarters, Greenville, May 27, 1796.

SIR,

PERMIT me to offer you my most hearty congratulations, on the final ratification of the treaty of amity, commerce, and navigation, between our respective countries, officially announced to me by the minister of war, and promulgated in the Gazettes, which I do myself the pleasure to enclose to you.

As the delivery of the posts, held by your royal master's troops, within the United States, makes the condition of the compact; it is my wish to concert with you, the measures which may be deemed expedient to the faithful execution of this stipulation, and to prevent any unnecessary interval, between the periods of your evacuation and my occupancy.

I stand in perfect readiness for the operation, and entertaining no doubt that the treaty will be fairly, fully, and punctiliously executed on the part of his Majesty, it becomes my duty to request information from you, of the day on which it may be convenient for you to withdraw the troops under your command from the territory of the United States.

My aide de camp, Captain Shamburgh, will have the honour to deliver this letter to you, and he will receive and forward your answer to me, by express, to meet the advanced corps of the army, in the vicinity of Roch-de-Bout.

With much personal respect and esteem, I have the honor to be, Sir, your most obedient servant,

JAMES WILKINSON,
Brigadier-general.

Lieutenant Colonel England, of the 24th regiment of
British infantry, or commanding officer at Detroit.

Detroit June 10, 1796.

SIR,

I HAD the honor of receiving by your aid de camp, capt. Shamburgh, your letter under the date of the 27th ult. mentioning your wish to concert with me, such measures as may be expedient for delivering up the post to you, and requesting to know the day that it would be convenient for me to withdraw the troops under my command from the territory of the United States. And in answer, beg to inform you, that in consequence of orders from his excellency lord Dorchester, buildings are erecting on the ground directed by his excellency to be occupied on the opposite side of this river, for the accommodation of his majesty's troops, and the protection of his stores, preparatory to evacuating this post, agreeable to the treaty of amity, commerce, and navigation, concluded between Great Britain and the United States, and that those buildings are in great forwardness: but not having as yet received his final orders to evacuate the posts under my command, it is not possible for me to fix on a day for that purpose.

I have however strong reasons for supposing, that those orders will not be unnecessarily delayed, and when I receive them it will afford me much pleasure in communicating to you the time that I shall be able to withdraw the troops, and to concert with you such measures as may be deemed expedient for your immediately occupying the posts under my direction.

I beg farther to add, that from the preparations already made, a few days will be sufficient to accomplish the transport of the troops and the remaining stores, to the posts ordered to be occupied on the opposite side of this river.

I have the honor to be,
With much personal respect and esteem, Sir,
Your very obedient
And humble servant.
ED. ENGLAND.

ROME.

In Bonnevale's Memoirs we have the following account of the famed Metropolis of the ancient world.

They have given a peculiar epithet to every city in Italy: and call Venice, the Rich: Milan, the Great; Genoa, the Proud; Naples, the Genteel; Florence, the Beautiful: Padua, the Learned; and Rome, the Holy; But, to speak truth; this last epithet belonging to Rome, is so ill adapted, that I should imagine it was given in derision; for, in my opinion, it is not only the most corrupt city in Italy but in the whole world. Adultry, fornication, sodomy, subtle and artful thefts and even murder itself, to be revenged of an enemy, pass unregarded there, being seldom any execution for such crimes. Vice is become so habitual, by the negligence of the first Popes, that all their successors who have offered at a remedy for it, have miscarried. This extends not only to the laity, but to the clergy; who for the most part triumph in their debauches, without taking the least care to conceal them; which is chiefly owing to the greatness of their number, and the smallness of their revenues, whence they are often reduced to indecent methods for a livelihood. I have been frequently accosted in the streets by priests and monks, who proposed to conduct me to lewd women, for a small reward; but if my natural inclination had not induced me to avoid those places, I would not have trusted myself in the hands of such dangerous guides.

Though, generally speaking, this is a just character of Rome, there are people of both sexes, notwithstanding, of distinguished merit and virtue, particularly the nobility; and men of learning are very numerous in this city.

FROM FRENCH PAPERS.

Translated for the MINERVA.

The following extract of a letter from a Citizen of the United States, to the Editor of the "Republican du Nord," appeared in the Gazette Francais of 27th of May.

"The English government has received a very important pa... America, by the Ranger pa... Carisbrook arrived in 21 d... Rhode-Island. It is a mes... President Washington, to the H... Representatives, founded, as he tends, on the constitution: he ... to comply with a demand of the ... to lay before them a copy of the in... tions to Minister Jay, to negociate a treaty with his Britannic Majesty—also the correspondence, and all other papers relative to the said treaty. This message was badly received by the house, and was immediately referred to a committee of the whole. Our Cabinet waits with consternation the result of this great event, knowing the general state of the people's minds in America, and the triumph of the democratic party in the house of representatives. Another event no less important at the present moment and which will not fail to accelerate the rupture, is a battle which has just taken place off the heights of Cape Jeremie in the Antilles, between an American and English vessel, in which a considerable number of men were killed on both sides, the English attempted to board the American to impress some of the sailors.

A rupture between the President and house of representatives appeared inevitable; and in that case, that infamous treaty, which Thomas Paine and you, and all the true republicans of the United States cannot read without indignation, and whose mysteries seem not designed for profane eyes, will fail for want of execution. Washington! (O Washington, thou art dear, but liberty is dearer)—will at least be constrained to resign—Adams and the English party will be crushed; Jefferson and Madison will appear again upon the stage, and Monro, giving full scope to his democratic principles, will appear at Paris, the true representative of his nation, the friend and real ally of the French Republic.

COUNCIL OF FIVE HUNDRED.

MAY 17.

The Directory sent to the Council fresh documents relative to the conspiracy. These papers were found in a wall—among them is the original act of insurrection, and a piece containing the details of a sitting of the committee of insurrection. These papers were signed by the insurrection committee: referred to the commission of seven.

Babeuf, the conspirator, wrote to the Directory May 12, that he feared not death in any shape, nor transportation—He should have the fate of the Sidneys, and Barnevelts, and shortly have altars erected to him, as the patriots had prepared for Robespiere. He invited the Directory to declare there had been no serious conspiracy, and promised them, by way of recompence, full security on the part of the French Democrats.

When the guards, sent yesterday to arrest the plotters, made their appearance in Rue-de-la-Grande Tuandery, a woman cried to them not to come in, for they were armed with pistols: such warning could not stop soldiers taken from the French armies. The door was therefore soon broke open; the conspirators were in fact all armed with pistols, but none durst fire. Even the greatest part of them, as soon as they saw the troops, threw away their arms, that they might not be found with them.—Drouet upbraided the guard who stopped him with serving tyrants. Babeuf being asked by the minister of the police, what were the means he had to carry on a conspiracy against the government and legislative body, answered, "Those means used against tyrants."

Buonparte, Commander in Chief of the Army of Italy, to the Executive Directory.

Citizen President,

The brave Sengel is dead, in consequence of his wounds. I have sent to his family the letter which you addressed to him.

You will find subjoined the articles of a suspen sion of arms which I have granted to the Duke of Parma. I will transmit to you, as soon as possible, the most beautiful pictures of Corregio; among other's one of St. Jerome, said to be his master piece. I declare to you that this Saint takes a very bad time to go to Paris. I trust you will accord him the honors of a museum. I repeat the request, that some known artists may be sent to make choice of the most rare curiosities, and such as they shall think worthy of being conveyed to Paris.

All the arrangements are made for the supply of the army of the Alps, there will be no difficulty in their passage.

Extract from the Courier Francois.

FRONTIERS OF TURKEY, APRIL 30.

The Porte at last convinced that Russia pursues with obstinacy the project of invasion and war, which it combines with the courts of Vienna and London, prepares itself on all sides to oppose against those violences an active resistance; besides the army which meets at Andrianople, which is become in a manner a place of arms, whence all the troops destined for the defence of our places in Europe will be drawn, numerous garrisons meet at Bender, Choczina, and in all Moldavia. It is added, that the germ of the confederate army of the Poles, who endeavours to re-conquer their liberty, increases daily, and the Divan entertains already, some hopes of treaties of defensive alliances with some European powers concerned in preventing the dismembering of the Ottoman Empire.—It is also reported that the Grand Seignior has concluded a treaty with one of the parties who divides Persia, and that party has engaged itself to make a strong diversion in Georgia, in case of a rupture with Russia. That rupture is so much the more certain that the Russian general Subor, is about marching with an army of 24,000 men, to attack that part of Persia which espoused the cause of the Porte.

The number of Turkiſh troops who have already met at Adrianople, is computed already ta 200,000 men, and it is aſſerted that army is abundantly ſupplied with every thing that is neceſſary to open the campaign at the firſt order. One muſt know the frugality of the Ottoman armies, not to be aſtoniſhed at the facility with which the Divan looked for all the ſupply of proviſions and victuals which they were in need of.

Had on, and took with him a ſtriped nankeen coat, red cloth waiſtcoat, Ticklenburg ſhirt, Ruſſia ſheeting trowſers, a new furr hat, with an oil cloth cover, a new black broad-cloth coat, a ſtriped ſilk and cotton waiſtcoat, a pair of jean pantaloons, a pair of white ſattinet breeches, and two linnen ſhirts.

He went off in company with a lad named SAMUEL BAYLY, and they were ſeen together on Sunday evening, about 12 miles this ſide of Leeſburg, enquiring the road to Charleſton, which way 'tis ſuppoſed they are gone.

FOR SALE,

Valuable Landed Property in Northumberland County.

ONE Tract of 1500 acres, and known by the name of Hack's neck—the whole of which is low ground of the firſt quality, well watered by many excellent ſprings, and a large proportion covered with valuable timber trees. It is beautifully ſituated on the Potomac River, about five miles above Smith's Point. This land is inferior to none below the Ridge, and few eſtates in the valey of Frederick and Berkeley, can be more productive of nett profit, after deducting the expence of tranſporting the produce of the latter to market, agreeable to the preſent mode, or by a juſt eſtimate of the difference of riſk and charge of freight between natural and forced navigation. On this eſtate there are between 50 and 60 negroes who will be ſold with it, if agreeable to the purchaſer.

Another tract containing four hundred acres of fine farming land five miles higher up the Potomac well watered and conveniently ſupplied with fiſh, oyſters, and wild fowl.

A third eſtate two miles from the laſt of thirteen hundred acres of high Land, extremely well adapted to farming or growing Tobacco or Indian Corn. This is a remarkable healthy and delightful ſituation. It commands a very extenſive, pleaſant, and engaging proſpect of the bay of Cheſapeake and the Potomac River. To this is attached a valuable griſt mill. A more minute deſcription is thought unneceſſary, as it is preſumed that thoſe inclined to purchaſe will view and judge for themſelves. If one fourth of the purchaſe money is paid when titles are made and poſſeſſion given, which may be at Chriſtmas next, a long credit will be given, if required, for the remdinder. In my abſence the lands will be ſhewn to any perſon wiſhing to purchaſe, on application to Mr. Whalen, the manager on the firſt deſcribed eſtate.

THE BRITISH KING'S SPEECH.

THURSDAY, MAY 19, 1796.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

The public buſineſs being now concluded, I think proper to cloſe this ſeſſion, and, at the ſame, to acquaint you with my intention of giving immediate directions for calling a new Parliament.

The objects which have engaged your attention, during the preſent ſeſſion have been of peculiar importance, and the meaſures which you have adopted have manifeſted your coutinued regard to the ſafety and welfare of my people.

The happieſt effects have been experienced from the proviſions which you have made for ſuppreſſing ſedition and civil tumult, and for reſtraining the progreſs of principles ſubverſive of all eſtabliſhed government.

The difficulties ariſing to my ſubjects from the high price of corn, have formed a principal object of your deliberation: and your aſſiduity in inveſtigating that ſubject has ſtrongly proved your anxious deſire to omit nothing which could tend to the relief of my people in a matter of ſuch general concern.

I have the greateſt ſatisfaction in obſerving that the preſſure of thoſe difficulties is now in a great degree removed.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Commons,

I muſt in a more particular manner return you my thanks for the liberal ſupplies which you have granted to meet the exigencies of the war. While I regret the extent of thoſe demands, which the preſent circumſtances neceſſarily occaſion, it is a great conſolation to me to obſerve the encreaſing reſources by which the country is enabled to ſupport them.

Theſe reſources are particularly manifeſted in the ſtate of the different branches of the revenue, in the continued and progreſſive extention of our navigation and commerce, in the ſteps which have been taken for maintaining and improving the public credit, and in the additional proviſion which has been made for the reduction of the national debt.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I ſhall ever reflect with heart-felt ſatisfaction on the uniform wiſdom, temper and firmneſs, which have appeared in all your proceedings ſince I firſt met you in this place. Called to deliberate on the public affairs of your country, in a period of domeſtic and foreign tranquility, you had the happineſs of contributing to raiſe [the] kingdom to a ſtate of unexampled [pro]perity.

You were ſuddenly compell[ed] relinquiſh the full advantages of [your] ſituation, in order to reſiſt the un[pro]voked aggreſſion of any enemy, [whoſe] hoſtility was directed againg all ſociety, but more particularly ag[ainſt] the happy union of order and libe[rty] as eſtabliſhed in theſe kingdoms.

The nature of the ſyſtem introduc[ed] into France offered to that country, [in] the midſt of its calamities, the means of exertion beyond the experience of any former time. Under the preſſure of the new and unprecedented difficulties arriſing from ſuch a conteſt, you have ſhewn yourſelves worthy of all the bleſſings you inherit. By your counſels and conduct, the Conſtitution has been preſerved inviolate againſt the deſigns of Foreign and Domeſtic enemies; the honor of the Britiſh name has been aſſerted; the rank and ſtation which we hitherto held in Europe, has been maintained: and the decided ſuperiority of our naval power has been eſtabliſhed in every quarter of the world.

You have omitted no opportunity to prove your juſt anxiety for the re-eſtabliſhment of general peace on ſecure and honorable terms; but you have at the ſame time, rendered it manifeſt to the world, that while our enemies ſhall preſiſt in diſpoſitions incompatible with that object neither the reſources of my kingdom, nor the ſpirit of my people, will be wanting to the ſupport of a juſt cauſe, and to the defence of their deareſt intereſts.

A due ſenſe of this conduct is deeply impreſſed on my Heart. I truſt that all my ſubjects are animated with the ſame ſentiments; and that their loyalty and public ſpirit will enſure the continuance of that union and mutual confidence between me and my Parliament, which beſt promote the true dignity and glory of my Crown, and the genuine happineſs of my People.

A barn of Meſſrs. Hepburn and Dundas, about four miles from town, was ſtruck by lightning on Monday afternoon, and was entirely conſumed, with 20 tons of hay and the farming utenſils.

At a late meeting of the Whig Club in England, the following toaſt (ſays a London paper) was given by the Duke of Norfolk, and drank by the Society with enthuſiaſm:

" George Waſhington, and may " virtue and patriotiſm ever riſe ſu- " perior to ambition and intereſt."

A principal bookſeller in London, ſays, that the books which meet the moſt ready ſale in England, are, Pilgrim's Progreſs, Robinſon Cruſoe, and the Complete Houſe Wife, from which he concludes the character of the Engliſh may be drawn. viz. 1ſt. Enthuſiaſtic. 2d. Romantic: 3d. Gluttonous.

To the Hon. the Senate and Speaker of the houſe of Repreſentatives

WHEREAS the manner in which the Militia Law directs the appointment of Militia Officers in this ſtate, is viewed as a great grievance, and we may juſtly preſume highly appreſſive to our Rights and Liberty. and occaſions complaints of a delicate nature, truly juſtifiable, daily to ariſe.

The Petition of the inhabitants, liable to do Militia Duty, therefore,

HUMBLY SHEWETH:

THAT it is the ardent wiſh of your Petitioners, that your Honorable Body will take into immediate conſideration, the Attention and Amendments indiſpenſibly neceſſary to give General Satisfaction in the appointment of our own Officers, whom we would wiſh, and ought, to obey.

The mode we would wiſh to ſuggeſt to your honorable Body is—That each Captain's Diſtrict have the ſole Power [of] Appointment of their Captains and [Sub]altern Officers; that the Captains [and] Subalterns ſo Elected, have the [Nomi]nation and Appointment of their [Field] Officers; and that the Field Officers Elected, have the Appointment [and] Nomination of their General Officers as you in your wiſdom may [think] proper: and your Petitioners [as] be in duty bound ever to pray,

BOSTON, JULY 26.

From FRANCE.

A gentleman is in town, who converſed at Newport with the paſſengers of a veſſel, that left France June 7. They mention the ſituation of the country as tranquil—proviſions plenty. That the French and Sardinians have ultimately adjuſted and agreed to terms of pacification, and, that no action had taken place on the Rhine to the knowledge of the people of Bourdeaux, at the date above mentioned.

NEW-YORK JULY 22

Late laſt evening the brig Commerce Capt. William Downs, arrived in this port from Gibraltar, which he left on the 23d of June.

Captain D. informs, that every circumſtance reſpecting the French victories in Italy, is kept a profound ſecret there—that there is ſtill danger for the American flag up the Straits—the American ambaſſador at Cadiz had obtained three months indulgence from Algiers, after the expiration of the term for the reception of the caſh, but that a cruiſer had appeared off Gibraltar, with ſeveral boats, and boarded an Engliſh veſſel, ſuppoſing her to be an American, but let her go on finding the miſtake—the American captains had been again cautioned by the American ambaſſador, through the conſuls, not to proceed higher up. A number of Danes had been taken ſome time ſince (which it is probable the Alicant informer refers to) but nothing ſhort of the (loſt) 300,000 dollars will continue the American peace after July 7, when the three months indulgence expired.

LATEST FROM FRANCE.

Late laſt evening the ſhip Fair American, Capt. Glad, was wafted into port from Nantes, which place ſhe left the 19th ult. She brings intelligence of two battles on the Rhine, in the firſt of which the French appear to have given way, but being reinforced, renewed the combat with republican heroiſm, and totally routed the Auſtrian army with immenſe ſlaughter.

Peace was in the mouth of the republicans with every nation but Great Britain, negociations for which were in great forwardneſs.

ALEXANDER SMITH

RESPECTFULLY informs the Citizens of Alexandria, and its vicinity, that he has selected and intends to have always for sale, the best FLOUR for family use.—He also begs leave to inform the Public in general, that he has received an addition to his former assortment of BOULTING CLOTHS, warranted to be of the first quality, which are now open and will be sold at the most reduced prices for cash, at his dwelling house on Fairfax Street opposite the public square, which House is now to be let and may be numbered with the first stands in Alexandria for business.—Possession will be given the first of June if requested.

NOTICE.

THOSE that have had Flour stored with the subscribers prior to the 20th ult are desired to come and have it removed or sold as soon as possible, otherwise send orders for that purpose, as it is to be feared the greater part will be sour in a little time. On delivering five to six hundred barrels the last week, which was all re-inspected, we found several barrels quite sour, and a very great part of it inclining that way, and it is impossible for us to say how long it would continue in the present situation before the whole may be spoiled. Those that have stored since the aforesaid 20th ult. will also please take notice that it will not keep sweet any length of time at this season of the year.

RICKETS & NEWTON.

JAMES DICKSON,

BEGS leave to inform the Generous citizens of Alexandria, that he has removed from the house he formerly occupied in Union street, to Mount Pleasant, which is beautifully situated on the banks of the Potomack, immediately adjoining the property of Mr. Baldwin Dade, where he keeps tavern as formerly. J. D. returns his sincere thanks to those who formerly honored him with their custom, and hopes by paying a particular attention to business to have their custom in future.

N. B. A convenient new bridge being built over the Gut, which leads to the above mentioned place renders the walk short and agreeable, where Ladies and Gentlemen can be supplied at all times with fresh messes of fish.

July 26.

I wish to dispose of a tract of land lying in Westmoreland County, containing by an old survey 950 acres, of which about 400 are in excellent white oak timber very convenient to navigation. The land is well adapted to the cultivation of small grain, Indian corn and tobacco, for which a ready market may always be obtained. It likewise abounds in natural grass, affording good pasturage for stock; has a very good apple orchard, and a dwelling house with three rooms below, and two above stairs; it is bounded on one side by a creek which affords plenty of water fowl. There is a fishing shore on Potomack adjoining the plantation, where all kinds of fish may be had in abundance with crabs and oysters.

JEKYLL JONES.

N. B. I will sell unfelled timber to a considerable amount separately from the land.

Take Notice.

I MEAN to leave this State in the course of one month for Baltimore, therefore all persons who have any claims against me, are desired to present them, and those who are any ways indebted, are requested to make immediate payment to

Twenty Dollars Reward

RAN AWAY from the subscriber living in Loudoun County, [illegible] to the water of Goose Creek, (near Lily's ford) on the 2d ult. a likely negro Man named JAMES, about four years of age, nearly five feet high, well made, full faced, and has a rough speech, has two scars, one on his shoulder, and the other between that and elbow. He had on when he went away osnaburg shirt and trowsers, and I believe took no other clothes with him, or perhaps may have changed them, probably he may conceal himself in Muschett's quarters, as he has formerly contracted an acquaintance there.

I forewarn all captains and owners of vessels from harbouring said negro at their peril. Any person or persons bringing home or securing said negro, so that I get him again, shall, if in the County, receive Ten Dollars, if out of it the above reward.

Lands for Sale.

The following Tracts, to wit:

TWO in Shanandoah County, one of 420, the other of 500 acres, within one mile of the Hawk's-bill Creek, and two miles of Rufner's Mill; also 2000 acres in the same county, in Powell's Big Fort, in tracts of 400 to 500 acres each, lying on the waters of Passage Creek. I am informby men of veracity that on one of those tracts is an iron ore bank, some of the ore I have seen, which can be picked up in great plenty in walking over the ground; and I am told it is of an excellent quality; this land is between the North and South Rivers of Shenandoah, and not further distant from either than 5 miles, and about 10 to the junction of the two rivers; and Passage Creek is a large stream of water that passes through the land, and empties itself into the Shenandoah. No situation in that county can be more eligible for carrying on extensive iron works, mills, &c.

I have likewise 400 acres in Frederick County, on which are two well improved plantations, situate within 5 miles of Winchester, and 3 of Newtown, on the waters of Opequan Creek.

The terms will be made known, on application to Mr. Enoch Wethers in Fauquier County, or myself in Alexandria.
